

Was the Norway massacre a reaction to the boycott Israel campaign? > Global > Redress Information & Analysis

Was the Norway massacre a reaction to the boycott Israel campaign?

By Gilad Atzmon

25 July 2011

Gilad Atzmon highlights Norwegian mass murderer Anders Behring Breivik's enthusiastic support for Israel and the sympathy he has received from Israelis and, in the light of this, asks whether Breivik might have been a "Sabbath Goy" responding to the Norwegian Workers Youth League's – to which all of his victims belonged – backing for the boycott Israel campaign.

I learned last night from an Israeli online journal that two days before the Utoya Island massacre, the leader of the ruling Norwegian Labour Party's youth wing, the Workers Youth League (AUF), Eskil Pedersen, gave an interview to Dagbladet, Norway's second largest tabloid newspaper, in which he unveiled what he thinks of Israel.

In the course of the interview, Pedersen stated that he "believes the time has come for more drastic measures against Israel, and [that he] wants the foreign minister to impose an economic boycott against the country".

Pederson went on to say, "The peace process goes nowhere, and though the whole world expect Israel to comply, they do not. We in Labour Youth will have a unilateral economic embargo of Israel from the Norwegian side."

The Workers' Youth League has been devoted promoters of the boycott Israel campaign, According to Dagbladet, "The AUF has long been a supporter of an international boycott of Israel, but the decision at the last congress demands that Norway impose a unilateral economic embargo on the country and it must be stricter than before."

"I acknowledge that this is a drastic measure," stated Pedersen, "but I think it gives a clear indication that, quite simply, we are tired of Israel's behaviour."

Murderer Anders Behring Breivik – an enthusiastic supporter of Israel

On 23 July, we also learned that mass-murderer Anders Behring Breivik was openly enthusiastic about Israel. According to a variety of internet outlets, Behring Breivik was a regular poster on several Norwegian internet sites, notably the blog Document.no, [[ document ]] which is run by Hans Rustad, a former left-wing journalist. Hans Rustad is Jewish, extremely pro-Zionist, and warns against "Islamization", violence and other social problems he assumes to be connected with Muslim immigration.

The observant among us are becoming increasingly aware of a growing trend of pro-war Zionist internet journals and blogs, such as the UK's neo-conservative and infamously Islamophobic Harry's Place, that ostensibly like to give the impression of "rallying for the preservation of Western culture” and of “standing up for democratic values”. For the most obvious of reasons, these sites are almost exclusively focused on “the problem of Islam” and the Muslim migrants’ “troubled and reactionary” communities and politics, while simultaneously, relentlessly and forcefully propounding a propagandistic Zionist agenda. Interestingly enough, other immigrants are routinely depicted on these blog pages as being “harmless”, or as “positive contributors to society” – you won’t find Hans Rustad or Harry Place criticizing the Jewish lobbies, the likes of Lord Levy or the Russian oligarchs’ disastrous impact on “Western culture” and “democratic values” any time soon.

Breivik's victims supported boycott Israel campaign

”Signature of an intelligence agency”

Gordon Duff wrote in “Veterans Today” on 23 July that the “car bombing carries the signature of an intelligence agency. Nobody else bothers with such things.”

Indeed, it is pretty clear that a car bomb of such magnitude, and an operation of such sophistication is not exactly something a layman can put together with such apparent ease: it would surely take some specialist knowledge, and the question here is, who could provide such knowledge, and such a vast amount of lethal explosives?

“...it is pretty clear that a car bomb of such magnitude, and an operation of such sophistication is not exactly something a layman can put together with such apparent ease”

I am not in a position at present firmly to point a finger at Israel, its agents or its sayanim – but assembling the information together and considering all possibilities may suggest that Anders Behring Breivik might indeed, have been a Sabbath Goy.

Within the Judaic, mundane-societal context, the role of the Sabbath Goy is to accomplish some minor tasks the Jews cannot undertake during the Sabbath. But within the Zionized reality we tragically enough live in, the Sabbath Goy kills for the Jewish state. He may even do it voluntarily.

Being an admirer of Israel, Behring Breivik does appear to have treated his fellow countrymen in the same way that the Israeli armed forces treats Palestinian

Israeli support for the Utoya Island massacre

Devastatingly enough, in Israel Behring Breivik has found a few enthusiastic followers who praised his action against the Norwegian youth. In the Hebrew article that reported about the AUF camp being pro Palestinian and supportive of the boycott Israel Boycott campaign, I found the following comments among other expressions of support for the massacre:

24. Oslo criminals paid.

26. It's stupid and evil not to desire death for those who call to boycott Israel.

41. Hitler Youth members killed in the bombing of Germany were also innocent. Let us all cry about the terrible evil bombardment carried out by the Allies... We have a bunch of haters of Israel meeting in a country that hates Israel in a conference that endorses the boycott.. So it's not okay, not nice, really a tragedy for families, and we condemn the act itself, but to cry about it? Come on. We Jews are not Christians. In the Jewish religion there is no obligation to love or mourn for the enemy.

As yet, the full facts of the Norwegian tragedy are unknown. But the message should by now be transparently and urgently clear to all of us: Western intelligence agencies must immediately crackdown on Israeli and Zionist operators in our midst, and regarding the terrible events of the weekend, it must be made absolutely clear who it was that spread such hate and promoted such terror, and exactly for what reasons.

---

Subscribe to Redress News RSS Feed

Subscribe to Redress Email Alerts

ShareThis

---

Copyright © Redress Information & Analysis.
All rights reserved.